1. Call to Order (Paul Kelly)

2. Higher Education Finance (Zumeta) ................................................................. 1
   During June’s meeting, the Committee will have the opportunity to hear from Dr. William Zumeta, professor of Public Affairs and Education at the University of Washington, who is well recognized as an authority in higher education finance and its future.

3. Adjournment
William Zumeta is professor of public affairs and higher education at the University of Washington where he directs the PhD program in Public Policy and Management at the Daniel J. Evans School of Public Affairs and serves as co-director of the Collaborative Researchers in Education Sciences Training (CREST) program. He holds master's and PhD degrees from the Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley, and, before moving to Washington, taught at the University of British Columbia and UCLA.

Zumeta teaches in the areas of policy analysis and public policies toward higher education and the workforce. His research interests focus on higher education policy, including accountability; finance; graduate education policy, private higher education policy, and education and the workforce policy.

He has been a senior fellow of the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education since 2005 and a fellow of the TIAA-CREF Institute since 2008. He is the 2009-10 president of the Association for the Study of Higher Education (ASHE), a national scholarly organization.

His research has been supported by a wide range of government agencies, foundations, and national groups. An expert in higher education finance, accountability and state policy, Zumeta has written chapters on these topics for the annual NEA Almanac of Higher Education for many years and has frequently spoken at NEA higher education conferences. His work has been published in all the major higher education and public policy journals and he has received grants from national foundations such as the Lilly Endowment, Pew Charitable Trusts, Sloan Foundation, and Spencer Foundation, as well the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Education.
