Proposed Hybrid Governance Model

• We seek governance that provides:
  • Strong connections to our respective institutions and to our communities
  • Operational and programmatic flexibility
  • Strong partnership among our four TRU institutions
  • Support for our respective students, missions, and brands
Governing Board—Consortium Hybrid (aka, TRU Oregon Governance) Model

- Each TRU is governed by its own Board of Trustees with general supervision of the institution
- Between 11 and 15 members of the Board serve staggered terms as appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate
- One board member is a student; one is a faculty member; and one is a non-faculty member
- The president of each TRU is appointed by the Board of Trustees as its principal officer and serves at its pleasure
- The president is an ex-officio member of the board without the right to vote
- The four governing boards meet together once a year on one of the TRU campuses in conjunction with the Presidents’ Council
Presidents’ Council Overview

- Composed of the four TRU presidents and one member of each institution’s governing board
- Chaired by one of the TRU presidents on a rotating basis
- Not a separate legal entity, but works to advance an advocacy and policy agenda to strengthen Oregon’s technical and regional universities for the benefit of Oregonians
- Works together to provide oversight for TRU shared services
- Provides a collaborative forum to advance the policy and resource needs of the state’s public technical and regional universities
Benefits of this Model

• Provides autonomy coupled with collaboration (i.e., both independence and interdependence)
• Establishes 40+ board members around Oregon who are knowledgeable and passionate about the TRU missions
• Provides enhanced opportunities to build on distinctiveness
• Provides greater number of voices for TRU support statewide
• Provides strong support and direction for each TRU campus, yet focuses on collaboration, finances, & distinctiveness
• Provides opportunities for lower cost through TRU shared services with structured oversight by presidents and boards
• Presidents’ Council incentivizes opportunities for collaboration
Drawbacks to this Model

• Necessitates more board training and support
• Greater time commitments from presidents and staff
• Financial implications superficially similar to purely independent-board model
Shared Services and Governance

- University Shared Services Center becomes model for all seven campuses to share big-ticket items
- TRU Campuses continue discussion to address remaining services that can be shared efficiently, at lower cost
- Fiscal impact to TRU campuses is direct result of unbundling shared services; not choice of governance model
- TRU Presidents engage in extensive collaboration, considering SBHE and community input, and arrive at unique governance model
Next Steps

• Complete business plans, including analysis of new model, by February 2014 (perhaps including AGB advice)

• Express interest in new model to stakeholders

• Develop list of potential trustees for gubernatorial and legislative approval
Summary

• The TRU Oregon model provides appropriate flexibility for each TRU, yet formalizes collaboration, cooperation, and consideration of others
• TRU presidents also welcome partnerships with other public universities, private universities, community colleges, and K-12 (also outside Oregon)
• The TRUs need governance composed of individuals who understand and care passionately about our respective and shared missions and strongly represent our respective and collective interests on behalf of Oregonians
• The TRU Oregon model is an exciting opportunity for positive change (40-40-20; financial; student value) in this new environment
• We value the opportunity to work together as the four TRU presidents—and to have solid partnerships and collaboration among our other administrators as well as our faculty and students
